FCC Part 15:

This device has been tested and found to comply with the requirements for a Class B digital device under Part 15 of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) rules. These requirements are intended to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential environment. This equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not used correctly, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to you or others, you may need to take certain steps which may be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.

Do not attempt to repair or modify this equipment. Warning: Changes or modifications to this equipment not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operations subject to the following two conditions:

(1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and

(2) This device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.*

*Shielded USB cables must be used with this unit to ensure compliance with the Class B FCC limits.

This device meets the government's requirements for exposure to radio waves. The Specific Absorption Rate (SAR) limit set by the FCC is 1.6W/kg. The highest SAR value reported to the FCC for this device is 1.20W/kg and complies with this limit.

Information Regarding Exposure to Radio Frequency Energy

Your device is designed and manufactured to meet specific limits for exposure to RF energy set by the Federal Communications Commission of the United States (FCC). Information on your Device is on file with the FCC and can be found under the Double Check section of <http://www.fcc.gov/government> after searching on the FCC ID for your Device, which can be found on the back of the Device.

If your electronic device has internal memory on which personal or other confidential data may be stored, you may want to perform a data sanitization process before you dispose of your device to assure another party cannot access your personal data. Data sanitization varies by the type of product and its software, and you may want to research the best sanitation process for your device before disposal. You may also wish to consult your local recycling facility to determine their data sanitation procedures during the recycling process.

Battery Disposal & Recycle

This device contains a lithium-ion battery. The battery may be recycled or disposed of properly. Contact your local waste management office for information on battery recycling or disposal. ☎(800)2483837
