

A photograph of a disassembled Anbotek tablet. The tablet is open, showing the internal components. The left side shows the motherboard with various chips, connectors, and a battery. The right side shows the back cover with ventilation slots and regulatory markings. A ruler is placed next to the tablet for scale. The background is a blue surface.

