A black, rectangular portable heater is shown from a rear-three-quarter view. It features a black handle on top and a large, circular vent with a black grille on the back. The heater is placed on a blue surface, and a yellow ruler is positioned horizontally in front of it for scale. The ruler shows measurements in inches and centimeters. The heater's body has a textured, ribbed appearance. A small, circular logo is visible on the back panel, near the center of the vent. The overall design is compact and functional.
