

Model KR34A Operational Description

The model KR34AA is a radio frequency transmitter used to activate two individually coded X-10 Modules and brighten and dim lights connected to lamp modules and wall switch modules. The device transmits when the user of the device depresses any of the on or off buttons. When a button is depressed the 310.0 MHz pulsed RF transmitter transmits the appropriate pulse code to the light or wall switch modules to activate them.