

The diagram shows a two-page spread of a document. The left page is white and contains a large orange rectangular border. Inside this border, the text "Label Location" is written in orange. The right page is also white and empty. The entire spread is framed by a black border. On the left side of the left page, there is a vertical column of small black squares. On the right side of the right page, there is a vertical column of small black squares, including a larger square at the bottom.

Label
Location