A small, black, rectangular object, possibly a remote control or a small electronic device, is shown next to a ruler for scale. The object has a white diagonal stripe running from the bottom-left to the top-right. Along this stripe, there are several colored dots: white, yellow, purple, green, red, cyan, orange, and dark purple. To the right of the stripe, there are several white circular buttons with black symbols: a plus sign, a minus sign, a dollar sign, a plus sign, a minus sign, a dollar sign, a plus sign, a minus sign, a dollar sign, and a power button symbol. The word "ALPENA" is printed in white on the black background. The ruler shows measurements in centimeters, with the object spanning from approximately 4.5 cm to 6.5 cm.
