PART I: SAFETY AND HANDLING INFORMATION

Caution! Before you begin to use the TAG Heuer Connected Watch, please read the following instructions which contain important safety and regulatory information. Please keep these instructions in a safe place so that you can refer to them when needed.

I. Safety and handling instructions

A. Main characteristics of your TAG Heuer Connected Watch

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch is a luxury watch which includes Wi-Fi, Bluetooth, global positioning system (GPS), near frequency communications (NFC, only support RX) functions and a heart rate sensor. Ambient light sensor and inter-modularity (i.e. users can change parts of the Watch such as the strap by means of buying extra accessories) are also available in this version of the Connected Watch.

It is not intended to be used as a medical device.

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch runs Wear OS by Google. Wear OS by Google is a trademark of Google LLC. Wear OS by Google works with phones running Android 6.0+ (excluding Go edition) or iOS 10.0+. Supported features may vary between platforms and countries. Visit g.co/wearcheck on your phone or a computer to see if it is compatible.

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch requires the use of the charging accessories provided with it. The accessories provided with your TAG Heuer Connected Watch contain a USB cable, a charging cradle and a wall plug. You will find below further details on the use of the Watch and its charging accessories.

Performance and handling

For optimal performance of the heart rate sensor, your watch and strap must be snugly fitted to the wrist. If you want to measure your heart rate while practicing sports, wearing your watch with a steel bracelet may not be an optimal choice, as it can be difficult to tighten properly.

To disable the watch's radio (Bluetooth, Wi-Fi, Location (GPS) and NFC) functions, please follow the following stages:

- If your screen is dim, touch the screen to wake up the watch;
- Swipe down from the top of the screen;
- Touch the Settings symbol ();
- Scroll down and touch Connectivity
- Touch Bluetooth, Wi-Fi, NFC or Location (GPS) settings depending on which you want to turn off/on;
- If Wi-Fi or Bluetooth is set to Automatic, touch the little icon listed next to either Wi-Fi or Bluetooth to turn it off or disable.

B. Important safety precautions

Please note that failure to comply with the following guidelines may cause malfunctions or be hazardous to the user and/or exclude or reduce the benefit from the International Limited Guarantee.

1. Using the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories safely

a. Keeping your TAG Heuer Connected Watch safe

(i) General

Do not use or store the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories in dusty, dirty areas as its components may be damaged.

Do not store the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories in warm areas. High temperatures can shorten the life of electronic devices, damage batteries and warp or melt certain plastics.

Do not store the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories in cold areas. When the TAG Heuer Connected Watch afterwards warms up to its normal temperature, moisture can form inside the TAG Heuer Connected Watch, which may damage the electronic circuits.

Do not attempt to open the watch's casing. Non-expert handling of the TAG Heuer Connected Watch may cause damages to your TAG Heuer Connected Watch and will void the International Limited Guarantee.

Do not drop or knock the TAG Heuer Connected Watch. Do not place heavy objects on it. Do not use sharp objects on the screen. Do not use excessive force on the screen. Rough handling may damage the internal circuits.

Do not use harsh chemicals, cleaning solvents or strong detergents to clean the TAG Heuer Connected Watch.

While listening to your device with headphones, make sure you have set the volume to a reasonable level in order to avoid damage to your ears.

If the TAG Heuer Connected Watch or any of its accessories are not working properly, take them to your nearest qualified service center. The personnel there will assist you, and if necessary, arrange for the TAG Heuer Connected Watch to be repaired.

In addition to the above, please refer to section 2 below on cables, charging cradle, wall plugs and battery electrical safety.

(ii) Exposure to liquid

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch is water resistant to 50m/5ATM. You may, for example, wear and use the TAG Heuer Connected Watch for shallow-water activities such as swimming or in the rain. However, it should not be used for activities involving submersion below shallow depth or high-velocity water such as scuba diving, water-skiing.

Be sure to clean and rinse your watch with fresh water after it has been in salt-water or chlorinated water, and dry it thoroughly with a nonabrasive, lint-free cloth.

Be aware that straps other than metal or rubber and any charging accessories are not water-resistant.

The following must also be avoided as it could damage your watch (it could notably affect the water resistance and cause cosmetic issues):

- exposing the TAG Heuer Connected Watch to soap, detergent, acids or acidic foods, and any liquids other than water, such as perfume, insect repellent, lotions, sunscreen, oil, adhesive remover, hair dye, or solvents;
- dropping the TAG Heuer Connected Watch or subjecting it to impacts.
- exposing the TAG Heuer Connected Watch to pressurized water or high velocity water, for example, diving, and surfing.
- wearing the TAG Heuer Connected Watch in the sauna or steam room.

Please note that the touch screen and other features may get deactivated temporarily while the TAG Heuer Connected Watch is wet. If the TAG Heuer Connected Watch or your hands are wet, dry them thoroughly before handling the watch.

Be sure to carefully follow those instructions when using your TAG Heuer Connected Watch, as any use in contradiction with those instructions would void the International Limited Guarantee.

(iii) Using buttons, Digital Crown, connectors, and ports

Never apply excessive pressure to a button on the TAG Heuer Connected Watch, or force a charging connector into a port, because this may cause damage that is not covered under the International Limited Guarantee. If the connector and port do not join with reasonable ease, they probably do not match. Check for obstructions and make sure that the connector matches the port and that you have positioned the connector correctly in relation to the port.

Certain usage patterns can contribute to the fraying or breaking of cables. The cable attached to a charging unit, like any other metal wire or cable, is subject to becoming weak or brittle if repeatedly bent in the same spot. Aim for gentle curves instead of angles in the cable. Regularly inspect the cable and connector for any kinks, breaks, bends, or other damage. Should you find any such damage, discontinue use of the cable.

Discoloration of the accessories (cable, plugs) after regular use is normal. Dirt, debris, and exposure to moisture may cause discoloration. If your accessories become warm during use or if the TAG Heuer Connected Watch does not charge or sync, disconnect the cable from the power adapter and clean the accessories with a nonabrasive, dry, lint-free cloth. Do not use liquids or cleaning products when cleaning the accessories.

Discoloration of the charging surface of the TAG Heuer Connected Watch charging accessories TAG Heuer may occur after regular use. Cleaning the charging surface may reduce, or prevent, such discoloration, and will help to prevent damage to your charger and the TAG Heuer Connected Watch. To clean the charging surface, disconnect the charger from both the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and the power adapter and wipe with a damp, nonabrasive cloth. Dry with a nonabrasive, lint-free cloth before resuming charging. Do not use cleaning products when cleaning the charging surface.

b. Protection of the user's health

As a general recommendation, the TAG Heuer Connected Watch is not intended for use where the failure of the device could lead to death, personal injury, or severe environmental damage.

If you have any questions concerning your TAG Heuer Connected Watch, its batteries and/or accessories' chemical contents, do not hesitate to contact us through our website www.tagheuer.com or by mail at the following address: TAG HEUER - Branch of LVMH Swiss Manufactures SA - 6A RUE LOUIS-JOSEPH CHEVROLET - 2300 LA CHAUX-DE-FONDS – SWITZERLAND (TEL: +41 (0)32 919 8000).

Your TAG Heuer Connected Watch and the included TAG Heuer Connected Watch apps are not medical devices. They are not designed or intended for use in the diagnosis of disease or other conditions, or in the cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease. Before starting or modifying any exercise program using the TAG Heuer Connected Watch, consult your physician. Be careful and attentive while exercising. Stop exercising immediately if you feel pain, or feel faint, dizzy, exhausted, or short of breath. By exercising, you assume all associated inherent risks including any injury that may result from such activity. If you have any medical condition that you believe could be affected by the TAG Heuer Connected Watch (for example, seizures, blackouts, eyestrain, or headaches), consult with your physician prior to using the TAG Heuer Connected Watch. Some people may experience reactions to certain materials used in jewelry, watches, and other wearable items that are in prolonged contact with their skin. This can be due to allergies, environmental factors, extended exposure to irritants like soap, sweat, or other causes. You may be more likely to experience irritation from any wearable device if you have allergies or other sensitivities. If you have known skin sensitivities, please take special care when wearing the TAG Heuer Connected Watch. You may be more likely to experience irritation from the TAG Heuer Connected Watch if you wear it too tightly. Remove the TAG Heuer Connected Watch periodically to allow your skin to breathe. Keeping the TAG Heuer Connected Watch bands clean and dry will reduce the possibility of skin irritation. If you experience redness, swelling, itchiness, or any other irritation or discomfort on your skin around, or beneath, your TAG Heuer Connected Watch, please remove the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and consult your physician before resuming wear. Continued use, even after symptoms subside, may result in renewed or increased irritation.

Prolonged contact of the skin with abnormally warm surfaces may cause injury (or discomfort). Remove your TAG Heuer Connected Watch from your wrist if it becomes uncomfortably warm.

You should pay specific attention if you have a medical condition that reduces your ability to detect heat on your skin.

The materials used in the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and the TAG Heuer Connected Watch bands meet the standards set for jewelry by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, applicable European regulations, and other international standards.

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch contains components which may interfere with electronic medical devices. If you use an electronic medical device, please refer to section

c. Integrity of people around

(i) Protection of children

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories present a choking hazard to children and must therefore be kept away from children.

(ii) Driving and engaging in activity safely

Do not use your TAG Heuer Connected Watch while driving.

You assume full responsibility for the use of the GPS of the Connected Watch and the risks derives therefrom.

Radio frequency signals might affect improperly installed or inadequately shielded electronic systems in motor vehicles. Check with the manufacturer or its representative regarding your vehicle. If any equipment has been added to your vehicle, you should also consult the manufacturer of that equipment for information on radio frequency signals.

Do not use your TAG Heuer Connected Watch while engaging in any activity that requires your full attention. Inattention to vehicular traffic or other pedestrian hazards could result in serious injury, death or property loss.

In general, always use common sense when using your TAG Heuer Connected Watch.

2. Electrical Safety

a. Accessories

Use only those accessories approved by TAG Heuer. Using any accessories not approved by TAG Heuer for use with your TAG Heuer Connected Watch might invalidate any approval or warranty (including the International Limited Guarantee) applicable to your device and or might result in the TAG Heuer Connected Watch becoming inoperative and dangerous.

b. Charging accessories

Your Watch is provided with the following charging accessories: USB cable, charging cradle, wall plug.

To charge the TAG Heuer Connected Watch, use only charging accessories approved by TAG Heuer.

When a charger is not in use, disconnect it from the power source.

It is important to keep the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and the accessories provided therewith in a well-ventilated area when charging.

Use the charging accessories provided with the TAG Heuer Connected Watch or any other TAG Heuer approved charging accessories only from the type of power source indicated on the marking label. Before you use any charging accessory, verify that the main voltage of the power source is in accordance with the voltage of the approved charging accessories.

Do not overload power outlet, extension cords or convenience receptacles because this might result in a risk of fire or electric shock. To reduce the risk of damage to the cord or the wall charger, pull the wall charger rather than the cord when you disconnect the charging accessory from the power outlet or convenience receptacle.

Using damaged TAG Heuer Connected Watch charging accessories, or charging when moisture is present, or handling accessories with wet hands, can cause fire, electric shock, injury, or damage to the user or the TAG Heuer Connected Watch or other property. Be sure the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and the charging accessories are dry before charging. When you use the charging accessories to charge the TAG Heuer Connected Watch, make sure that the USB plug is fully inserted into the adapter before you plug the adapter into a power outlet. Avoid charging the TAG Heuer Connected Watch in direct sunlight. Do not wear the TAG Heuer Connected Watch while it is charging. The watch should not be charged next to certain pieces of furniture that could easily catch fire in case of an overheated battery (e.g. sofas, bookshelves, etc.).

Avoid prolonged skin contact with the connector when the cable is plugged into a power source because it may cause discomfort or injury. Sleeping or sitting on the connector should be avoided.

In addition to the above:

- Do not expose the charger to water while in use; this may cause the charger and the watch to fail.
- Carefully insert the USB cable into the charger base, forcing the cable in the wrong direction will damage the charger.
- It is recommended to charge the watch in a cool place, in order to prevent overheating of the watch.
- It is not recommended to charge the watch in a place where there is direct sunlight on the watch, as this may cause overheating.
- When the watch is placed on the charger, and the charger is plugged into a wall, a charging screen will be displayed on the watch face, indicating the remaining time to fully charge the battery.
- It is recommended to remove the watch from the charger once it is fully-charged.
- If the watch fails to charge, check that the wall plug is fully inserted into the wall outlet, the USB cable is firmly attached to the charger, and the watch is properly placed on the charger.

- If the watch still does not charge, make sure that there is no dirt or obstruction on the charger's pins and make sure the back of the watch is clean.
- The charger contains a small magnet to ensure proper alignment and attachment of the watch to the charger. Please keep the charger away from metal.

c. Battery safety

Your TAG Heuer Connected Watch contains a built-in lithium-ion polymer battery that is not replaceable. Do not attempt to replace your product's battery (for information on the recycling of the battery, please refer to section Maintenance and Disposal (paragraph C-3), below).

In any event:

- Do not expose the battery to fire or other external heat sources, such as hot plates, stove tops, space heaters or ovens, as this could cause fire or explosion.
- Do not dispose of batteries in a fire.
- Never use any charger or battery that is damaged in any way. Use the battery only for intended purposes. Do not short-circuit the battery.
- Do not leave the battery in hot or cold places.

3. Interaction with the environment

a. Interference with electronic equipment and magnetic characteristics

Your TAG Heuer Connected Watch, as any radio-transmitting equipment, may interfere with other electronic devices.

Switch off your device on airplanes or any place where it is requested (hospitals, gas station, etc.).

In any case, make sure you are using your device where it is authorized for use and in an authorized manner.

In particular, your TAG Heuer Connected Watch may interfere with pacemakers, defibrillators, or other medical devices. Maintain a safe distance of separation between your medical device and the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and accessories. Consult your physician and medical device manufacturer for information specific to your medical device. Stop using the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories if you suspect they are interfering with your pacemaker, defibrillator, or any other medical device.

Keep key cards and credit cards away from the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories.

b. Dangerous areas

Charging or using the TAG Heuer Connected Watch in any area with a potentially explosive atmosphere, such as in areas where the air contains high levels of flammable chemicals, vapors, or particles (such as grain, dust, or metal powders), may be hazardous. Obey all signs and instructions.

c. Geolocation performance

The geolocation function Global Navigation Satellite System (GNSS), such as the Global Positioning Service (GPS), may experience performance issues in case of use near any device using terrestrial broadband network.

d. Operating and storage temperatures

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch (watch and dock/charger) shall not be operated or stored at temperatures below -20 °C (- 4 °F) and above 50 °C (122 °F) and shall not be charged at temperatures below 0 °C (32°F) and above 45 °C (113 °F).

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch can be damaged and battery life shortened if stored or operated outside of these temperature ranges. Avoid exposing the TAG Heuer Connected Watch to dramatic changes in temperature or humidity. If the interior temperature of the TAG Heuer Connected Watch exceeds normal operating temperatures (for example, in a hot car or in direct sunlight for extended periods of time), you may experience the following as it attempts to regulate its temperature:

- Charging may slow or stop;
- The display may dim;
- Some data transfer may be paused or delayed.

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories will become warm when plugged into a power source. For example, while the TAG Heuer Connected Watch is charging or while its accessories are plugged into a power source, do not sleep on them or place them under a blanket, or your body. Always use common sense when charging your TAG Heuer Connected Watch.

C. Maintenance and disposal

1. Cleaning

Keep the TAG Heuer Connected Watch clean and dry. Dry the TAG Heuer Connected Watch thoroughly if exposed to water. Clean the TAG Heuer Connected Watch if it comes in contact with anything that may cause stains, or other damage, such as dirt or sand, makeup, ink, soap, detergent, acids or acidic foods, or comes in contact with liquids other than fresh water, including those that may lead to skin irritation such as: sweat, salt water, soapy water, pool water, perfume, insect repellent, lotions, sunscreen, oil, adhesive remover, hair dye, or solvents. Please be aware that exposing the TAG Heuer Connected Watch to any liquids other than water will void the TAG Heuer International Limited Guarantee. See the section dedicated to Exposure to liquid above for details. The TAG Heuer Connected Watch may vary or fade over time.

The following actions are not recommended in the care of your TAG Heuer Connected Watch:

- Do not clean the TAG Heuer Connected Watch while it is charging.

- Your Tag Heuer Connected Watch features a built-in lithium-ion polymer rechargeable battery, which is not replaceable or removable by the user.
- Do not attempt to replace or remove your Watch's battery by yourself.
- Tampering with your product, or attempting to open it, will void the warranty, and may result in a safety hazard. For any handling of the battery please contact your TAG Heuer distributor.

4. Electronic or electric equipment and battery disposal

Your TAG Heuer Connected Watch, its accessories and its battery contain hazardous substances. They must not be disposed of as unsorted household waste.

They are subject to specific local regulations. In particular, as the TAG Heuer Connected Watch and its accessories were placed on the market after 13 August 2005, they are

Exposure to Radio Frequency Energy and Specific Absorption Rate Information

This device is a radio transmitter and receiver that uses an internal antenna to send and receive low levels of radio frequency (RF) energy for data communications. The device emits RF energy below the published limits when operating in its maximum output power mode and when used with TAG Heuer authorized accessories. To comply with RF exposure compliance requirements, the device should not be used in other configurations. This device must not be co-located or operated in conjunction with any other transmitter or antenna.

The TAG Heuer Connected Watch meets the EU, US and Canada requirements for exposure to radio waves. It is designed and manufactured not to exceed the emission limits for exposure to RF energy set by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) of the US Government, Industry Canada (IC) of the Canadian Government, the French Government and recommended by the Council of the European Union when used as directed in these Instructions, to ensure the safety of all persons, regardless of age or condition.

The exposure standard for radio electrical devices uses a unit of measurement known as the Specific Absorption Rate (SAR). Tests for SAR are conducted using standard operating positions with the device transmitting at its highest certified power level in all tested frequency bands.

Please note that:

- In the United States and Canada, the allowable SAR limits are the following: 1.6 W/kg (averaged over any 1 gram of tissue) for the head, neck and trunk; 2.0 W/kg (averaged over any 10 grams of tissue) for limbs;
- In the EU, the recommended SAR limits are the following: 1.6 W/kg (averaged over any 10 grams of tissue) for the head and trunk; 2.0 W/kg (averaged over any 10 grams of tissue) for limbs (these are legal requirements in France).

The SAR limit recommended by the ICNIRP (International Commission for protection against non-ionizing radiation) is 2W/kg.

Additionally, the SAR limit that applies to residents of countries / regions that have adopted the SAR limit recommended by the IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers), including the US, is 1.6 W/kg averaged over one (1) gram of human tissue.

For SAR values for your TAG Heuer Connected Watch, see Part III: Regulatory Information.

This Guarantee is in addition to other rights and remedies available to you under the laws of Germany, which cannot be excluded. Nothing in this Guarantee purports to limit, modify, take away from, disclaim, exclude or suspend any mandatory guarantee requirements provided or non-excludable statutory rights you may have under the laws of Germany, in particular the statutory warranty and consumer protection rights under Sec. 434 ff., 474 ff. German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, BGB).

Irrespective of the rights granted under the Guarantee, if your Product is defective and does not conform to contract at the time of delivery, you are entitled by Sec. 434 ff. 474 ff. This Guarantee is in addition to other rights and remedies available to you under local law, which may not be excluded. Under Turkish laws, the warranty period is 2 years as from the delivery date of the goods and the expected life span of the Product is 5 years. The seller is liable to perform such request preferred by the consumer. If free-of-charge repair or replacement of the defective good leads to disproportionate difficulties for the seller, the consumer can cancel the agreement or request a discount in the sales price in proportion to the defect. In determining what is disproportionate, the value of the good free from the defects, severity of the defect and whether or not the exercise of other optional rights would constitute a problem for the consumer shall be taken into account. - the Product is broken down again within the warranty period,

In case the fault is not repaired within 10 business day, the seller or the importer shall be liable to assign another good having similar features for the use of the consumer until the repair is finished. In case the good is broken down within the warranty period, the period in repair shall be added to warranty period.

In case you choose the rights of cancellation of the contract or discount in the sales price in proportion to the defect, all paid amount or the discounted amount in the sales price shall be refunded to you immediately.

All costs generated from the use of optional rights shall be fulfilled by the party performing such rights of the consumer. You may also request for the compensation in accordance with the provisions of the Turkish Code of Obligations dated January 11, 2011 and numbered 6098 together with one of these optional rights.
