

Because the product is a wireless headset, the product area is too small to print FCC ID, so according to the regulatory requirements, the FCC ID number is printed on the manual and color box, as shown in the screenshot above.