

The image shows the back of a white, rectangular electronic device, possibly a portable media player or a small tablet. The device is lying on a light-colored, textured surface. At the top, there are two small, rectangular protrusions. Below these, there is a horizontal slot, likely for a display or a camera. The main body of the device is white with a matte finish. In the center, there is a white rectangular label with black text that reads "FCC ID : FSUGKZG6". Below this label, there is a black rectangular label with white text that reads "89062202". The device has several screws visible on its back, and there are some small, dark rectangular openings near the bottom corners.

FCC ID : FSUGKZG6

89062202