Charging instructions

If your vibrator is feeling a little lowkey, it may be time for a charge.

Due to the unique design, each Vibes Only model charges slightly differently.

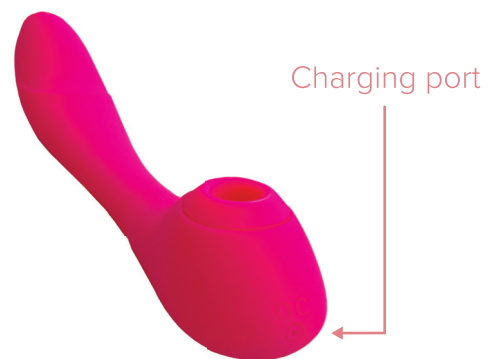

First, plug your USB cord into a standard charging block (high-power charging blocks may damage the battery).

Insert the charging pin (long skinny piece) into the small opening (tight hole) on the bottom of your vibrator.

Be gentle, but firm until it's in as deep as it can go.

The light on your vibrator will flash to indicate that it's charging.

When it is fully gassed up (approx. 2 hrs) the light will change to a steady glow.

Don't kill your vibe

Keep your device bent inwards or straight. Refrain from bending back and forth excessively, so that it holds its shape.

Do NOT bend backward past this point:

Care for your vibrator ...and it will love you back!

Care instructions

We can't recommend using a water-based lubricant enough, such as Vibes Only Juiced Up. Avoid using a silicone-based lubricant as this could kill your vibrator.

After every use, clean with warm water and antibacterial soap or toy cleaner. Dry thoroughly with a clean towel or air dry. Store in a cool, dry place and keep your vibrator away from toys made of other materials. Remember to charge periodically to maintain the battery life.

To clean the suction end, we recommend using a Q-tip with toy cleaner around the opening, do not push it inside or you may damage the internal motor.

What not to do

- Submerging the suction end of your Rayna in water will damage your toy.
- Use with oil-based massage oils or lubricants as it may damage the silicone.
- Leave your vibrator in direct sunlight or ever expose it to extreme heat.

Troubleshooting

Your vibrator's light does not pulse when the charger is connected? This could be why:

- Battery is fully charged (go off!)
- Battery is drained and will require several minutes to recognize that it is being charged.
- Charger is not properly connected. Check your charging block and charging pin.

Your vibrator does not connect with your phone when the button is pressed?

- Battery is drained and your vibrator requires charging.
- The Bluetooth on your phone is not enabled.
- Make sure you give Vibes Only permission to access Bluetooth on your phone settings.
- The Bluetooth on your phone is not enabled. Make sure to enable, or reset your phone if needed.
- You have exceeded the 10 seconds required for your vibrator to 'find' a device. Reset both your vibrator and your phone by turning off, waiting 30 seconds, then turning on. Now try again making sure your phone has fully restarted, with the Bluetooth switched on.
