

General Product Description

The Shure P4T is a wireless transmitter designed for stereo transmission from a line level input. The signal is transmitted to a wireless body-pack receiver within the frequency ranges of (722-865) MHz into three different groups. Each transmitter/receiver combination has Eight available frequencies. The transmitter features a half-rack metal enclosure. This product was designed to be use by stage musicians and broadcast personnel.