

The image shows the internal metal chassis of a device. At the top, a long orange flex cable is connected to a spring-loaded contact. On the right side, there is a circular antenna assembly. At the bottom, there are two large rectangular ventilation grilles. A black cable runs across the bottom, secured with a yellow tape. Various screws and mounting points are visible around the perimeter of the chassis.

Aux. Antenna

Main Antenna

Bottom Shell showing location of antennas