

The label is located on the interior of the back plastic. The label will be open to the user and installer when the back plastic is detached from the front.