

Under the back cover of the device

The label becomes visible to users when the back cover is removed to install the device.