

Additional statements for submission

The following additional information will be supplied to the customer:

- Per the Ezurio license agreement, “If and to the extent that the Software is designed to be compliant with any published or de facto standard, regulatory standard, or industry specification, the Software may not be modified such that the Software or Authorized Product would be incompatible with such standard or specification.”
- For those devices authorized for use in the U.S. / CANADA, agree to provide information to Ezurio upon request, to confirm that the following requirements associated with configuration control and software security of end-products are fulfilled.
  - The modular transmitter's configuration must remain within its authorized parameters and adhere to the specified requirements when installed in the host product and must not be altered to include unauthorized modes of operation via the host product's accessible interfaces.
  - The host product must use only authorized firmware images supplied by Ezurio.
  - When installed in the host product, the modular transmitter must comply with US regional settings and prevent unauthorized modifications by third parties, including country code adjustments.
  - The host product does not allow installers to input configuration parameters that exceed authorized limits.

To use Ezurio's regulatory grants and refer to Ezurio certification IDs, licensees must confirm with Ezurio that all requirements related to configuration control and software security for end-products are met.