Declaration of Consent

Dear Madam/Sir,

Continental Automotive GmbH
Siemensstraße 12
D-93055 Regensburg
Germany
("Continental")

has developed the Daimler MARS Keyless ("Product") and by order of the customer Daimler integrated the MFA2/BR167/VS30 Keyless System into the product, using certain technical information provided by

HELLA KGaA Hueck & Co.
Beckumer Str. 130
D-59552 Lippstadt
Germany
("Hella")

Continental declares its consent that Hella may seek to obtain type approval for the Product as requested by the customer Daimler through the service provider

7layers GmbH
Borsigstrasse 11
40880 Ratingen, Germany
("7Layers")

This consent is given under the condition that Hella when applying for relevant type approval acts in compliance with all applicable laws at any time and bears all costs related to such applications. No costs must be charged to Continental.

Hella is not entitled to represent, oblige or in any other way act on behalf of Continental.

Application for type approval as described herein is done by Hella under their own and full responsibility and Hella will hold Continental, its affiliates and other related companies harmless of any costs, damages, losses or the like related to such application. Continental shall inform Hella with undue delay of any changes of the Product (also production process, subsuppliers etc.) by Continental as long as Hella is responsible for the type approval.

A copy of the respective type approvals obtained will be provided to Continental without explicit request from Continental and Continental must be granted access to relevant information about the application process by 7Layers at any time if requested by Continental.

This consent may be withdrawn by Continental at any time for any reason.

With kind regards

Regensburg, 30.03.2017

Thomas Heselberger
