

Data Reuse from prior application filings.

Manufacturer declares:

As the radio ICs and RF layout are unchanged in the 6803 from the 6800, the original test data for the 6800 continues to show compliance in the 6803.

For further details, see description under operational description exhibits.

Preliminary laboratory investigation at limited frequencies demonstrated consistency with report provided. No changes to radio circuitry, approved antenna or enclosure type have been made, therefore the original report remains applicable.