

A collection of electronic components and accessories is laid out on a blue surface next to a ruler for scale. The items include a GoPro camera (labeled '4K' and 'Wi-Fi'), a black cable, a small white square component, a black rectangular component, and several small plastic bags containing various parts, including what appears to be a lens or filter, a small circuit board, and other electronic components. The ruler shows measurements in inches (0 to 6) and centimeters (0 to 15).
