

Radiated emission

A photograph of a black laptop on a light-colored wooden table. The laptop screen displays a web application with a sidebar and a main content area. To the right of the laptop, a white power strip is plugged into a wall outlet. A black cable connects the power strip to the laptop. In the foreground, a silver metal mesh cooling fan is visible, connected to the laptop via a blue cable. The background shows a glass partition and a white wall with a power outlet.