WIRELESS TELECOMMUNICATIONS BUREAU SEEKS COMMENT ON REQUEST OF EMS TECHNOLOGIES CANADA, LTD. FOR WAIVER OF PART 87 EMISSION MASK TO ALLOW CERTIFICATION AND USE OF AERONAUTICAL MOBILE SATELLITE SERVICE TRANSCEIVER

WT Docket No. 11-19

Comment Date: March 7, 2011

Reply Date: March 22, 2011

On June 2, 2010, EMS Technologies Canada, Ltd. (EMS) filed a request for waiver of Section 87.139(i)(1) of the Commission's Rules¹ to permit equipment certification and use of its next generation aeronautical-mobile satellite service (AMSS) HSD-MK2 transceiver.² The HSD-MK2 transceiver supports the Inmarsat Classic, Swift64 and SwiftBroadband aircraft communications services, and is intended to be used on aircraft to provide high-speed Internet, voice and video conferencing capabilities in the aircraft's cockpit, in the cabin and at the gate. EMS requests a 9.5 dB adjustment to the emission mask set forth in Section 87.139(i)(1), for all of the frequencies listed in Section 87.139(i)(1) except 1610.6-1613.8 MHz and 1660-1670 MHz.

Section 87.139(i)(1) provides the required attenuation for a modulated carrier relative to the maximum emission envelope level for equipment operating in the Aviation Radio Service. On April 29, 2010, the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau (Bureau) granted EMS a waiver of certain Part 87 rules to permit certification of several AMSS transceivers, including the HSD-MK2. As part of that action, the Bureau waived Section 87.139(i)(1), note 2 to permitted EMS an absolute offset of +/- 504 kHz instead of a +/- 35 kHz offset. Subsequently, on June 2, 2010, EMS requested one additional waiver for the HSD-MK2. EMS states that because of the larger bandwidth granted by the Bureau, the HSD-MK2's total power is more widely distributed, necessitating a 9.5 dB relaxation of the spurious and noise output levels specified in Section 87.139(i)(1). EMS argues that the emission envelope is at a lower absolute level for an equivalent total carrier power, and that the 9.5 dB relaxation would provide the same effective protection levels as is currently specified in the rule. EMS seeks the waiver to permit certification and use of its transceiver, which it states meets Inmarsat technical requirements; applicable ARINC Characteristics 429, 739, 600, 741 and 781; RTCA/DO-210 "The Satcom Minimum Operational Performance Standards;" and will be certified pursuant to the Federal Aviation Administration Type Certification, Supplemental Type Certification, and/or Technical Standard Order Certification. EMS believes that granting the waiver will provide the same level of protection as the existing emission mask, and therefore not cause harmful interference to other service and is in the public interest.
