

Appendix II

Internal Photographs

The photograph shows the internal components of a white electronic device, possibly a smartwatch, laid out on a wooden surface next to a ruler for scale. The components include a microcontroller (U2), memory (U1), and various passive components (resistors, capacitors). The ruler indicates the size of the components, with markings in centimeters and inches.

